

MEETING OREGON'S NEED FOR MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES:

Willamette Valley Behavioral Health

ABOUT UNIVERSAL HEALTH SERVICES: Universal Health Services (UHS) is one of the nation's largest hospital management companies, operating more than 400 acute care hospitals, behavioral health facilities and ambulatory centers. Being consistently ranked in the fortune 500 most admired companies list, UHS accepts Medicaid, Medicare, Tricare and private pay insurance, welcoming all patients regardless of their ability to pay.

Cedar Hills Hospital (CHH), located in Beaverton, is a 98-bed facility and is currently the only UHS-affiliated facility in Oregon. Home to both inpatient and outpatient programs, CHH has served adults facing acute behavioral health crises related to mental health, substance abuse or co-occurring disorders since 2009 while also providing more charity care as a percentage of revenue than any other hospital in the region.

Willamette Valley Behavioral Health(pictured), the proposed sister facility to CHH, is a freestanding 100-bed psychiatric hospital that will provide $50 million in construction investments and more than 250 ongoing job opportunities for community members.

Intended inpatient programs at Willamette Valley Behavioral Health:

- Acute adult and adolescent psychiatric care treating:
 - Depression
 - Anxiety
 - PTSD
 - Co-occurring disorders
- Substance use disorders
- Crisis stabilization
- Medication stabilization

Intended outpatient programs include:

- Partial hospitalization
- Traditional outpatient services
- Medication-assisted treatment
- Co-occurring Disorders Program
- Women Only Program
- Intensive outpatient care
- DUII education and treatment

OREGON: UNDERSTANDING THE NEED FOR INPATIENT SERVICES

For adults:

As of 2019, there are only two freestanding behavioral health hospitals that offer adult inpatient psychiatric services in the tri-county area, CHH and Unity Center for Behavioral Health, and the average occupancy rate of both facilities is at 85 percent capacity.

For adolescents:

As of 2019, there are only two hospitals that offer inpatient behavioral health services for adolescents: Providence Willamette Falls Medical Center and Unity Center. These centers only provide 38 beds to cover the tri-county area.

SERVING COMMUNITIES

CHH is home to the state's only military-specific behavioral health program for active duty service members.

The hospital partners with the state and mental health authorities from each county to serve those in crisis by providing a secure space for them become stable, regardless of ability to pay.

The facilities run by UHS provide crucial property taxes to fund local services while continually building new job opportunities for the communities they serve.
